HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 21 years old and a few weeks ago I met a young man my own age or a few years older. He works at the same place I do. We met at an office picnic and he danced with me several times. Now when we meet he seems very much pleased to see me, speaks before I do and holds out his hand to shake hands. He is dark and full of life and I should very much like to meet him. I am a blonde. I think we would make a very good couple. Do you think it would be all right for me to ask him to call on me sometime? I am a stenographer and he is a nephew to my employer. I feel just as good as he is, but I am a little bit afraid to ask him to come to see me.

If he likes you he will want to come to see you. Don't ask him to come and then he will want to all the more. If you wait for him to ask to call he will not have occasion to think that you are too much interested in him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I want to tell you about a sick room I recently entered. The party at the time I entered deliciously raved to her friends about papers, as it was about time for their delivery. I found her on her mother's lounge—not up-to-date, but one of the three pieces she received from her mother who is dead. An Indian blanket was under her, given to her by a far-away sister who was a mother to her in babyhood. The pillow a daughter had embroidered. The nightgown embroidered by a girl who had worked for her for years; it was heavy unfortunately because chills let the plain country people take care of the little country people?

People who have made a study of sickness know that certain things encourage disease and that a change and sanitary conditions are necessary to recovery and health. A nurse who has made a study of caring for the sick knows more about it than the average person and her opinion should be respected. Of course health cannot be hoped for without plenty of fresh air. I think it is well for country people and everyone else to be open to new and improved methods. It is narrow to cling blindly to a thing just because it is old. Of course I see the human and pathetic side of the little invalid's love for the things that belonged to her dear ones and that her dear ones have touched, but I as well as the critic think that they were not conducive to a bright, wholesome, mental attitude and good health.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Which would you rather have, an engagement ring or a wedding ring if you could not have both?

CONSTANT READER.
I would rather have a wedding ring, because it is symbolic of so much more than an engagement ring.

Household Hints

Refreshing Drinks.

Milk Sherbet—Boil for one minute three cups granulated sugar and one quart milk. Let cool. Freeze and when partly frozen add one cup lemon juice or any kind flavor desired; black raspberry juice is fine.

Maple Mousse—One cup maple syrup, one pint cream, yolks of four eggs. Let syrup come to a boil. Beat the yolks and pour hot syrup on them very slowly. When cold add whipped cream and freeze. This will serve ten persons.

Grape Sherbet—One quart juice of grapes, one lemon, one tablespoon gelatin dissolved in two tablespoons water, two cups sugar. Add sugar and gelatin to grape juice. Freeze. Pineapple Sherbet—One pint grated pineapple or one can, one tablespoon gelatin. Soak in a little hot water, two cups sugar, juice one lemon. Fill up cup that has gelatin in it with boiling water, add pineapple mixture and freeze.

Orange Cordial—Cut small slice from end of each orange. With a spoon remove pulp, leaving the shell whole. To the pulp if six oranges add juice of two lemons and one cup sugar. Let stand several hours, then press through a fine sieve. Half fill the orange shells with crushed ice, add the liquid and serve with straws.

Wild Cherry Wine—One quart of cherries crushed, four pounds sugar, four quarts boiling water, one-half pound wild cherry tree bark; put all in a jug, shake well, put the cork in but do not press tight; keep in a warm place until it begins to work nicely; stand in the cellar for four or five weeks; then strain and bottle, putting the corks in loosely until six months old.

Grape Wine Without Pulp—To make grape wine without pulping grapes, the following recipe is excellent: Two quarts ripe grapes (Concord preferred), two pounds sugar. Take a gallon jug, place grapes and sugar in it, then fill with water. Stand in sun until it ferments. The seeds will all work out and every day jug must be filled up with sweetened water. When all through working strain through fine cloth. Keeps nicely without sealing.

Strawberry Floating Island. Crush one pint of strawberries and sweeten to taste; beat froth and gradually add one-half cup powdered sugar and sufficient berries to color and flavor them. Meanwhile prepare a boiled custard from one pint milk, yolk of the eggs, pinch of salt and 1½ cups sugar. Pour into glass dish. Place a layer of crushed berries over custard and add meringue. Garnish with whole berries.

PRESERVE YOUR CHILD'S HAIR

When your child is grown, the condition of the hair will depend largely upon the way it is cared for now. The human hair is composed of about 175,000 delicate cells. Ordinary soaps and shampoos will soon destroy the natural oil and the fatty roots of these plants, making the hair dry and brittle or destroying it entirely. EVERY WEEK SHAMPOO is an anti-septic oil shampoo that cleanses and purifies the scalp thoroughly and leaves the hair just as nature intended it—soft, fluffy, silky and the scalp slightly moist with oil, but no surplus oil in the hair. It is a most excellent shampoo for children as well as adults. Large bottle containing 64 teaspoons 50c.
